CONGRESSIONAL.

Both Departments Take up the Discussion of Sundry Appropriation Bills.

Interesting Testimony of Colonel Dudley Relative to Actions of the Pension Department.

The Nicaraguan Canal--Crowds Gathering to Meet the Vice-President-elect.

Congressional News.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27—Hale called up the naval bill but an objection was made to its consideration until the completion of business. Hale said he wanted the senators to release the almost intolerable condition in which the senate finds itself with great appropriation bills. In order to avoid an extra session, it was essential to give the appropriation bills every possible advancement. The naval bill was then taken up and the reading proceeded with.

At one o'clock the unfinished business being the anti-silver coinage bill was laid before the senate, but was temporarily laid aside, and the navy bill taken up in discussion.

McPherson favored building larger cruisers than provided for, and on suggestion of Miller, of California, without objection by Hale, the limit of the maximum tonnage for new cruisers, recommended by the senate committee, was made 2,000 tons instead of 4,000 tons.

The amendment offered by Hale was agreed to appropriating $112,000 for the purchase of Ericson's torpedo boat, "Destroyer." With this exception the bill passed substantially as it came from the senate committee on appropriations.

HOUSE.

Reagan asked unanimous consent to take from the speaker's table the inter state commerce bill for the purpose of examining phrases noncurring in the senate amendments thereto, but Kean objected.

Rosecrans, from the committee on military affairs, reported a bill for the retirement of Gen. H. G. Wright, with the rank of major general. Private calendar.

As the regular order of business the house proceeded with the further consideration of the sundry civil bill. Horr offered an amendment providing that the money appropriated to aid the New Orleans exposition shall be used first in payment of the indebtedness now outstanding of the exposition due persons living out side of Louisiana, including the debts to foreigners or foreign nations and such as are due the states and territories; and second in payment of all premiums awarded by the exposition.

NOTES.

Civil Engineer Menseal, in charge of the expedition to survey the route of the proposed Nicaraguan canal, reports to the navy department, under the date of San Juan river, January 31st, the arrival there on the 22nd of January, a camp being established near the junction of the San Juan and Serapin rivers.

Sawyer, of the statistical division of the pension office, submitted a tabulated statement to Warner's committee to-day showing that under Colonel Dudley's administration the office was increased about 196 per cent. and work about 8 per cent, compared with the expense bureau of his predecessor.

The vice president-elect was expected to arrive in this city at 1:15 this afternoon and at that hour crowds of persons among them the reception committee, had assembled at the B. & O. depot to await the arrival of the train. Shortly after 1 p. m. however a dispatch was received stating that the train bearing Mr. Hendricks would be nearly two hours late owing to a long stop over at Cumberland.

COLONEL DUDLEY'S TESTIMONY.

Colonel Dudley, ex-commissioner of pensions was further examined by the Warner committee to-day. General Warner asked if the witness did not know that the special examiners in Ohio, and especially in the close districts, were representing themselves as being in the witness' employ, and that the pension claimants were cautioned to vote the Republican ticket if they wished to get their claims through. The witness knew nothing of the kind, and if he had known it he would have denounced it. General Warner asked if the lists of the claimants in the pension office were not furnished in order that political work might be carried on. The witness replied that that was the case, they were furnished by General Warner and others engaged in political work.

"Myself and others had no access to records," said Chairman Hart. You had the list of pensioners in Ohio.

General Warner—I didn't say pensioners.

Mr. Hart—Any man in the state of Ohio or any where else can get it.

Mr. Warner—There is a difference between claimants and pensioners Nobody has the right to it.

Witness—Well, nobody has been furnished any such list from my office. I indignantly deny it and I very much regret that you should ask me such a question, for you ought to know me. You know it was not so, because you wrote me a letter to that effect and I answered, telling you it was not so.

Mr. Warner—I think I had no such correspondence with you.

Witness—You wrote me a letter saying that the pension office was being used against you.

Mr. Warner—Can you produce a letter to that effect? I demand the letter I wrote you; the letter protesting against any contracts.

Witness—No, sir; you wrote me a letter against the pension office being used to your detriment, and I wrote you that it was not so.

Mr. Warner—I wrote you respecting a special pension case.

Witness—I will ask you now, as I have a right to protect myself, if you did not?

Mr. Warner—Bring the letter; bring the letter.

Mr. Hart—(Laughingly) Answer the question, General.

Mr. Warner, I am not on the witness stand.

Mr. Hart—Well you may be before this is over. I would like to ask you some questions.

Mr. Warner—I would have testified to something that would not please you.

Mr. Hart—I would be happy to have you go on, just twenty minutes, General.

Mr. Warner, to witness—How did you sign the letter addressed to me.

Witness—I think I signed it personally. I am not sure but you have the letter you can see.

Mr. Warner—I think you signed it as commissioner.

Witness—I think I did not.

Mr. Rogers questioned the witness as to the length of his absence from office, to which Mr. Dudley replied, 'fifty-seven days.'

The witness further stated he had drawn his pay during the time of his absence. The rules which governed subordinates about leaves were not applicable to heads of business. He added, he was not conscious of having neglected his duties and that his attention to official duties while in Washington, consumed twelve hours a day, which was nearly double the time required of clerks.

Mr. Rogers—I want to ask you if you think it had a very healthy effect on the country that he had quitted his post and gone into the country and stay the length of time you stayed, looking after his party's political interests?

Witness—You ask for my opinion?

Mr. Rogers—Yes, sir.

Witness—In my judgment, it should have no detrimental influence on the office unless it were understood that I was acting as commissioner at the same time.

Mr. Rogers called the witness' attention to a circular issued by him as commissioner of pensions, in which the clerks of the office are cautioned in strong terms against the misuse of their hours of duty. Mr. Rogers asked the witness' opinion of the principle of the circular as applied to his own case.

The witness thought he came within the exceptions noted in the circular. He had set an example, when on duty, of working not six and one-half hours a day, but twelve hours.

Mr. Rogers—Do you mean when you were absent?

Witness—No, sir; in office.

Mr. Rogers—I am asking with respect to your absence."

Witness—I think I worked eighteen hours a days when I was absent.

Mr. Rogers asked, Why, if you could take fifty-seven days with pay, could you not take the whole 365?

Witness—Well, that is a question in ethics, I cannot answer.

Mr. Rogers—Well, I can't either.

The witness declared he thought it not discreditable to any man to be faithful to his party allegiance, that he would not abridge any man's right to influence the results so long as he did not neglect his duties or consume time for which he was paid by the government.

General Warner questioned the witness as to the reason why special examiners were sent into his (Warner's) district, while only one was required in the neighboring district, and why the force of examiners in Ohio was increased from sixty to 101 just before election.

The witness replied—If such was the case and he did not know it was, the reason would be found in the necessities of office. The witness was unable to state how many special examiners were Republicans and how many Democrats. He did not believe any one knew the politics of half the examiners. They had been appointed under civil service rules. During a subsequent colloquoy the fact was developed that one of the special examiners in Ohio was working for the re-election of Representative Lefevre, Democrat.

LONDON, February 26.—A terrible explosion occurred this afternoon at the Royal school gunnery at Shoeburyness, while a number of artillery officers and scientists were testing a new patent fuse. Three men were killed outright and several fatally wounded. Among the latter were some of the most prominent officials of the government laboratory at Woolwich.

A dispatch from Tangier says that the admiral commanding the United States steamer Lancaster, which arrived at that port a few days ago to support the demands of the United States consul for the release of two persons unjustly imprisoned, gave notice to the government at Morocco on the 21st inst., that twenty days will be granted within which the prisoners should be liberated and reparation given, and if within that time the demands were not acceded to the admiral would denounce the Madrid convention of 1880, and refer the matter to the government at Washington for further action.

LONDON, Feb. 27.—Colonel Fox, Strangeways, commandant of the Royal school of gunnary, at Shoeburgness, and Colonel Lyon, head official of the government laboratory, at Woolwich, wounded by and explosion at the Royal school of gunnery, died this morning. Each had both legs blown off.

Great excitement prevails throughout England in view of the possible defeat of the government in parliament to-night. Gladstone in answer to the protest of of the peace society against further prosecution in Soudan confines himself to a reference to the many acts of Lord Wolseley to induce the hostile Arabs to cease making war, and points society to Lord Wolsley's proclamations to show that the government desired to avoid bloodshed and to establish a native government at Khartoum and recognize El Mahdi as Sultan.

Interesting Testimony.

TOLEDO, February 26.—To-days proceedings in the Hurd-Romeis contest brought forth an interesting fact. Precinct B, of Ward 8, where Romeis had 220 majority was under consideration. The first witness, Lewis Johns, one of the Republican judges, in his testimony showed that one of the judges did not live in the precinct; that both of the clerks were Republicans and that there was a big mix in general. The tally-sheets did not correspond with the poll book, there being more tickets than names on the book. The clerks and judges attempted to fix things by distributing around the extra tickets. After this was done there were still more, showing conclusively that some body had been tampering with the box. There were present besides the judges ten or twelve members of each party. At 1 o'clock the judges got mad and signed the sheets regardless of the consequences. The testimony of James Kelly, a Democratic judge, taken before another notary, substantiates John's throughout.

Socialist Arrested and Held for Bail.

NEW YORK, February 26.—Judge Wilde to-day gave his decision in the case of Justice Schwab, the notorious socialist. Schwab was held for trial on both charges in $2,500 bail.

A Missing Mayor.

PORT TOWNSEND, W. T., February 26.—The following are the particulars relating to the flight of ex-Mayor Thomas Nevins:

About a year ago he came here from Whatcom, W. T., and engaged in practicing law under the name of John B. Voorhis. Soon he became associated with A. L. Teele. The firm of Teele & Voorhis flourished. On Teele's election as justice of the peace last November the firm dissolved. Voorhis began practice on his own account. After his disappearance on Saturday it transpired that he was the absconding mayor of Michigan, who, with a portion of the city council, issued city bonds for water works and sold the bonds to the extent of $50,000. This resulted, in those who were responsible, being found guilty. Voorhis claimed that he left to screen the others, assuming the responsibility on himself, he being single, while the others were married. He also states that he received no money for the bonds, it being deposited in a New York bank in trust for the city of Adrian bonds, subsequently cancelled and Adrian lost nothing. When he arrived here he was recognized by persons who knew him in Michigan. He convinced them that he came west with the desire to redeem himself, so they permitted the matter to rest until his flight became known. His friends here claim that his indebtedness, the amount of which is not known, will be paid in full.

His Last Session.

SPRINGFIELD, February 26.—Judge Robert Logan, of Whiteside, dropped dead at the head of the house stairs as he was on his way to that chamber. The elevator was not running and he attempted to walk up the long stairway. Mr. Logan has been ailing all season with heart disease and could not stand excitement of any kind. When he dropped on the house floor, opposite the main entrance to the chamber, he was picked up by friends and carried into the anta room and doctors called, and in five minutes pronounced him dead.

This afternoon an arrangement was made by the committee having in charge the body of Logan, to convey to the depot for transportation to his home, in Morrison, to-night at 12 o'clock. They will be conveyed to the depot, followed by Logan's son an d a large number of members and citizens. The committee appointed to accompany the body to Morrison were: Senators Snyder and Bell, Messrs. Johnson, Ingalls and McMillen.

By the death of Logan, the senate jointly stands, Democratic, 102, including Streeter and Haines, the independent Democrats; Republican 101. In order to elect a senator, 103 constitutes a quorum, consequently if the Republicans refuse to vote as they now propose, the election of a senator will not take place until after the successor to Logan is elected. It was thought by the death of Logan 102 would constitute a quorum, but it is understood here by the leaders on both sides that such is not the case. Governor Oglesby this afternoon signed an order calling for the election of a representative in Whiteside county, in the place of Mr. Logan, deceased, to take place March 21. There will be no business in either house or senate paide from taking a formal ballot for senator until Tuesday. A large number of members are pairing and going home to-night.

The guards were aroused and in a few minutes after the receipt of the telegram Neal, accompanied by a heavy guard, started for the Eastern Kentucky Junction to catch the train for Mt. Sterling. These facts were kept quiet until 8 o'clock this morning. When they became known much indignation was expressed by the majority of the people while a few expressed satisfaction. A large crowd gathered here to witness the changing. Neal was overjoyed at the receipt of the good news.

CONGRESS ought to receive general commendation for enacting one little measure, and possibly two, having for object some reduction of the constantly swelling tide of private legislation. One bill that has passed both chambers aims to exclude from congress a large army of petty claimants for damages, relief, compensation, etc., for loss of personal effects by the fault of the government, by authorizing the treasury auditors to hear and settle their claims, if they are honest and right. Another that has passed the house and probably will pass the senate fixes a limit of six years, beyond which certain claims shall be treated as outlawed.

The young lady has just passed her nineteenth birthday and is handsome and accomplished. She is at present a pupil of Wells College, in Aurora, New York. She has not seen much of fashionable society, and is innocent of its wiles and fascinations. In company with her mother she will witness the inaugural ceremonies, though it is said, they will not attend the grand ball.

MARCH 16 there will be an annular eclipse of the sun, visible in this city. The eclipse will begin at 11:37 a. m. and ends at 5:12 p. m. A partial eclipse of the moon will take place September 24, visible in this city between the hours of 12:31 and 3:57 a. m. The moon has two other eclipses to contend with, but they will not be visible in Fort Wayne.

It is not only likely that there will be three vacant seats in the United States senate after March 4, as many of the newspapers infer. There has been no election in Oregon and the state legislature has adjourned, but the vacancy will not occur till March 4, when the legislature will not be in session and the governor will have the right under the United States law to appoint a successor to Senator Slater. In the case of New Hampshire the legislature does not meet till June, and it has already been decided by the senate that the governor may appoint a senator to fill out the interval. The situation in Illinois is different. If the legislature of that state shall fail to elect but shall continue in session on and after March 4, the governor will not have the authority to appoint under the literal construction of the law, and the seat now held by General Logan may remain vacant till a new legislature shall be elected.

THE INDIANA LEGISLATURE.

Senator Foulke's bill on civil service was defeated by a vote of 23 to 19.

Under a suspension of the rules the senate passed the house bill creating the Twenty-first, Twenty-second and Forty-seventh Judicial districts.

Senator Bailey's bill prohibiting the employment in mines and factories of children under twelve years of age, failed to pass for want of a constitutional majority.

The bill for the reorganization of the Knightstown home, giving the governor power to remove trustees and officers connected therewith, was passed by the house.

Mr. Staley's bill providing for the teaching in the common schools of the effects of alcohol and other narcotics upon the human system passed the house. The passage of this bill has been petitioned for from all all sections of the state, and strong lobby influence has been exerted in its behalf.

The ditch bill, which has been under discussion in the house on two or three occasions, finally passed that body. It provides for taking the appointment of commissioners out of the hands of the circuit court and places it with the board of county commissioners, and makes a number of changes from the present law.

Formerly weak, nervous, dyspeptic and debilitated individuals who found only disappointment in the various bitters and quack nostrums, pretended kidney medicines, etc., are agreeably surprised to regain perfect health and strength of mind and body, and complete heart's ease and freedom from aches and pains by the of Dr. Guysott's Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla. It restores every disordered function to a normal condition.

Woolen lace, which is nice for skirts, is made in all colors.

Educated and Experienced.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is prepared by C. E. Hood, apothecaries, Lowell, Mass., who have a thorough knowledge of pharmacy and many years practical experience in the business. It is prepared with the greatest skill and care under the direction of the men who originated it. Hence Hood's Sarsaparilla may be depended upon as a thoroughly pure, honest and reliable medicine.

The cost of lighting American and Canadian sea coasts last year was $2,148,000.

Looks So Untidy.

Nothing looks more untidy than the presence of scurf and dandruff in the hair and on the clothing. One bottle of Parker's Hair Balsam will heal the scalp and free it from this nuisance. Stops falling of the hair, promotes new growth and makes it soft, glossy and silky. Best of dressing. Deliciously perfumed.

The aspirants for postoffices in Missouri are now being drilled in battalions.

The aesthetic craze was not ruled out of favor by that clever satirist, Gilbert. It is a pity that he could not at the same time drive dyspepsia away. Fortunately there is a preparation that does effectually dispose of it. Walter F. Middleton, of Selma, Alabama, writes; "Three bottles of your medicine cured me of a very distressing case of dyspepsia. I keep the Bitters in my house all the time now. It is a wonderful preparation."

"Mark Twain" is going to England in May next to give readings from his own works.

SCROFULA.

Vanderbilt's Money Couldn't Buy It.

The Acworth News and Farmer of this week says: Mrs. Elizabeth Baker, living within 3 miles of Acworth, remarked that Vanderbilt's fortune could not buy from her what six bottles of Swift's Specific has done for her. Her statement is as follows: For thirty-one years I have suffered almost death from that horrible disease, scrofula. For years I was unable to do anything in keeping up my domestic affairs. Last October I was induced to try Swift's Specific, and used two bottles, and was so much benefited by it that I purchased four more from Messrs. Northout & Johnson, which has almost entirely relieved me. I feel like a new person, and can do all my own housework. Before I took the S. S. S. my life was a burden, as my entire person was covered with sores, and in this miserable condition I did not care to live. I had tried every known remedy, and my case was generally regarded as incurable. I had been treated by the best physicians to no avail. I most heartily recommend Swift's Specific to the afflicted.

Messrs. Northout & Johnson, merchants at Acworth, say: We know Mrs. Elizabeth Baker personally; we are familiar with her case. She is highly esteemed in this community.

Rheumatism Twenty Years.

I have been a sufferer from rheumatism for twenty years, at times with almost intolerable pain. I had the best medical treatment, and took all sorts of remedies, but without relief. Being reduced almost to a skeleton, and not being able to walk even with crutches, I was induced to try Swift's Specific, and it acted like a charm, and I am to-day entirely relieved. Have thrown away my crutches, and am in excellent health. I believe Swift's Specific will cure the worst cases of rheumatism.
MRS. EZRA MESSENGER, Macon, Ga., Aug. 4, '84.

Communication.

WETUMPKA, ALA., Sept. 28, 1884.—About six years ago I became afflicted with a very disagreeable skin disease, with large, dry sores and many crusted pimples on my face, hands and shoulders. The sore on my shoulder eat out a hole nearly an inch deep, and the cancerous appearance of one of the sores near my eye alarmed me very much. I tried all kinds of treatment, but found nothing that seemed to affect the disease. I finally decided to try S. S. S., on advice of a physician, and in a short time the scabs dropped from the sores, and left my skin smooth and well. I consider S. S. S. the greatest blood medicine made, and the only thing that will cure the disease with which I was afflicted. I think my trouble was the result of a terrible attack of malarial fever, contracted while farming in the Tallapoosa river swamp. I can be found at my office in the court house at Wetumpka. You can refer to me.

AMUSEMENTS.

The Battle of Giants.

McLaughlin met Christol last night and McLaughlin is the victor. He won three falls out of four. McLaughlin is a giant and Christol is a pigmy. The match reminded the spectators of a cat playing with a mouse. Christol is quick, wiery and muscular, but the sheer brute force of McLaughlin clearly overmatched him.

THE PRIVATE SECRETARY.

The Daily Journal, Ithaca, N. Y., says: "The Private Secretary, the new prevailing rage in farce comedy, was given at Wilgus Opera house last night by the Madison Square company. The attendance was extremely good and exceptionally fashionable. Of the performance nothing but good can be said. Leonard Grover, jr., as the Secretary, gave a most minute and carefully sustained performance of the title role; in brief, he was 'simply immense' and kept the audience in a roar of laughter. 'Do you know' was an established by-word when the curtain fell. Leonard Grover, sen., as Cattermole, the uncle, shared the honors with his son and gave a strong and vigorous portraiture of a vastly entertaining character. Mr. McDowell as the real nephew and Hubert Stacy, as the tailor, who desired to 'soar' evidenced superior ability and materially added to the pleasure of the entertainment. Mr. Lindsey, as Marsland, and Mr. Percy Sage as his nephew, gave excellent satisfaction. All the ladies were artists and charming, commencing with Miss Ada Dwyer as the landlady and culminating with Miss May Robson as the spinster 'chaperone.'" "The Private Secretary" opens to-night at the Temple. There will be a production of the play to-morrow evening and a matinee to-morrow afternoon.

BOUND FOR LIFE.

Charles D. Jennie, the Electric Light Inventor, Asks Judge O'Rourke to Set Aside a Contract Made by his Father.

In the circuit court this morning Charles D. Jennie filed a petition asking Judge O'Rourke to set aside a contract made by his father and guardian, James A. Jennie, binding him for life to the Fort Wayne Jennie Electric company. Young Jennie is the inventor and patentee of the electric light, bearing his name, and when seventeen years of age his father entered into a contract with Fort Wayne capitalists, binding the complainant and his inventions to their service for life. The young man was given $10,000 stock out of the sum of $100,000 issued, and although the Electric Light company made over $61,000 clear last year, his share of the profits was so small he objects to further lending his invention and service to the company. He asks Judge O'Rourke to set aside the life contract, as he is now of age and able to take care of his own affairs. The Jennie invention is the only one the Fort Wayne Electric Light company has to work on and his withdrawal from the prosperous corporation would be serious. Hence the suit is of great importance. Judge L. M. Ninde is attorney for young Jennie.

Nutritious food is essential as a means of restoring a consumptive to health. A medicine that will strengthen the lungs and soothe all irritation is also necessary. The Nestor of the New York Bar

DAVID DUDLEY FIELD.

On the 13th of February Mr. David Dudley Field completed his 80th year, and a reception was given at the house of his brother Cyrus in commemoration of the event. Mr. Field is a remarkable example of physical vigor in old age. His step is as firm, his carriage as upright and his endurance as great as most men's are at 40. The secret of his preservation is worth knowing, and Mr. Field thus relates it:

"When I was a young man I had very severe headaches. In 1846 I bought a horse and I have not had a headache since. Every morning I arise at 6 o'clock. I have done so for 40 years. I take an ice cold bath, dress myself, jump on a horse at 7 o'clock, and ride for an hour. I then breakfast and work at my house till 11 o'clock, when I walk down town, a distance of four miles. I remain at my office until 3 o'clock, then walk home and dine at 6. At 7 I sleep for half an hour, after which I am ready for anything. I retire between 10 and 11 o'clock. I have done this for over 40 years. I attribute my hardihood to horseback riding."

Since the retirement and death of Charles O'Conor he has succeeded to the lead of the New York bar. He occupies a unique position in American history. With the exception of a seat in the lower house of congress and a seat on the floor of the peace convention he has never held any public station, political or judicial, yet he has attained to a position and an influence which any jurist and any statesman might well envy. Although he has amassed a magnificent fortune by successful practice, he is to-day as active in legal business as if dependent upon the day's work for his daily bread. The great reform with which Mr. Field has for nearly half a century been connected—Codification—is now through his persistent efforts on a fair way to general acceptance in many of the states of the Union, and certainly in the largest state has already become a pronounced success.

Wisconsin's Senator-Elect.

JOHN C. SPOONER.

John C. Spooner, who has just been elected United States senator from Wisconsin, is comparatively a young man, having been born in Lawrenceburg, Ind., on the 6th of January, 1843. He comes of a family of noted lawyers, and himself stands at the front of the Wisconsin bar. He served in the Union army during the civil war, first as a private and later as a captain, and upon returning from the field became assistant state librarian and military secretary of Gov. Fairchild—having meanwhile studied law with his father. Resigning his secretaryship, he became assistant to the attorney general, and in 1870 began the practice of law at Hudson. In 1871 he was elected to the legislature as a Republican, and the state university being in difficulties, he became its foremost champion. The governor recognized Mr. Spooner's services in appointing him a member of the board of regents. From 1872 to 1883 he was the solicitor of the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha railroad. He has always been a Republican, and has a high reputation as a political orator.

Assistant Bishop of New York.

RIGHT REV. HENRY CODMAN POTTER, D.D., LL.D.

Assistant Bishop Potter, who has been much displeased and annoyed by the renewed attacks of the Rev. R. Heber Newton upon the fundamental doctrines of the Episcopal church, has, it is said, at last consented to have Mr. Newton presented, and the controversy which has arisen in the church settled by an ecclesiastical trial. This trial, it is expected, will attract more than usual attention, as the questions to be settled by it are not a mere matter of high or low church, or broad church, but whether some of the doctrinal pillars on which the whole fabric of the Protestant Episcopal church rests can be torn down without wrecking the whole structure. Assistant Bishop Potter is a native of New York city, where he was born in 1835. He graduated from a theological seminary in Virginia in 1857, was ordained a priest in 1858, and consecrated assistant bishop in 1883. He is rector of Grace church, New York, and lives in a palatial residence adjoining it.

Messrs to the Secretary of Wyoming.

[Bill Nye.]

We had a secretary once who thought when he was appointed that the crowned heads of the world would probably make the welkin ring with glad acclaim, and fairly make the Atlantic boil with red hot congratulatory cablegrams; but they did not. When he landed at Cheyenne the shock was not great. The social fabric of that wealthy and bright little city did not seem to totter much. Not a single tot. The secretary even had some difficulty in getting the best room at the hotel, even when he stuck his chest out and announced that he was secretary of state. He did not then know that in matter of social standing and salary the poorest paid justice of the peace in Cheyenne looked down on him and pitied him. He did not know that when he announced himself as a federal appointee he began to be looked upon with suspicion, and that he would have to behave mighty well for years to come in order to erase the bad impression which he had unwittingly made. The people of Wyoming will never forget him. He hoped for a demonstration when he arrived,

When he landed at Cheyenne the shock was not great.

but he prayed that there would not be one when he went away. He was the champion ass of the known world. He wanted to be preceded by the blare of trumpets. He yearned to walk over the wild and woolly yahoos of the rowdy west. He liked to have the governor go away, so that he could appoint a notary public at Deadman's Ranche and sign it as acting governor, with a big, big G. He did not know that the people of the west walked on their hind feet till he went to Wyoming. For many months he kept it well before the people that he was secretary of state, but before he went away he tried to conceal it. He traveled incog., as a matter of safety and comfort. I know one man who has held an important federal office two terms of four years each and is liable to continue through the third term, which he has just begun, but he did not begin by calling out the troops to come and hold his head while he thought of a hard word. He knew when he went west that the Lord reigned there also, and that the man who kept his mouth shut most of the time was less liable to get an overdose of daylight into his vitals. He has lived and prospered and been twice reappointed. The hoodlum west knows when it is well used and it also knows when the president is seeking to play an April fool trick on it.

When a man goes into a territory nowadays to enter into trade or business, the people at once offer him every kind of encouragement; but when he goes there as an appointee he must behave himself for years before he can secure that "perfect love which casteth out fear."

Respect for the Departed.

[Arkansas Traveler.]

"Why, Caroline, aren't you ashamed of yourself!" exclaimed a mother, entering a parlor, and addressing her daughter.

"Your poor father has only been dead three weeks and here you are playing the piany."

"He's been dead longer than that, maw. He died on the 2d, so you see he's been dead four weeks."

"That's a fact," said the mother. "Go ahead. I declare my memory is failing me."

[Life.]

Mr. Ficklepate: "Then, Miss Golddust, am I to understand that you reject my offer? In that case I have only one request to make, which I fervently hope you will not refuse." She: "What is it?" Mr. F.: "That you will never, never betray what I have just revealed to you of the deep feelings of my inmost heart." Miss G.: "Oh, certainly not. But why?" Mr. F.: "Because—ahem!—well—because I intend proposing to your older sister to-morrow."
